Project Details

With an eye for design and a dream in her mind, our client set out to add some exciting copper accents to her new home in the United States Southwest. The client/designer, Ashtora, wrote a detailed review of her project that can be read HERE. Here are some highlights:

The project required many accents and alcoves to be painted with Crescent Bronze copper metallic paint and also involved some detailed electrical and lighting to make some of those areas stand out even more. With a one month time frame, Ashtora and her team of experts went to work transforming an already beautiful property into a truly unique home.

“Ease of application definitely affected my choice. I chose copper because I love copper and because Crescent Bronze offers a variety of choices—one of which harmonize s with my choice of wall colors”

- Ashtora

The project generates an instant sense of astonishment for her guests and the design “reflects personalities while surrounding lives with the tangible and intangible elements that bring us joy.”
